Dudes' day out

COOL DUDE: MLA Peter Watson learns how to skate with a helping hand from skate demo organiser Alex Rolph.

ON December 25 the annual Dudes Day Out celebrations were held at PCYC.

The first year the festivities have been held in PCYC's new building the activities and attendance were bigger and better than ever.

The day began in the afternoon with basketball games; skate boarding demos, laserscape karaoke, face painting and the list goes on.

Several organisations including Southern Edge Arts and Mentally Healthy WA were on hand to join in activities and hand out information about their organisations.

All ages were catered for with a bands night to follow for teenagers featuring bands Delta Force, 29 Shadows of September the Lonely Brothers, Southside and headline act, Perth band Tourist.

POSITIVE: Mentally Healthy WA representative Trish Travers promotes positive ways to be mentally healthy to kids.

PAINTED: Dahanara Munroe shows her beautifully painted face from the free face painting provided by Bliss Balloons.

FRIENDS: Samantha Rasmussen and Siobhan Kerr have a fun afternoon out at the Dudes Day Out activities.

BUDDY: Brayden Bailey and Annie Munroe wait anxiously to have their faces painted.

ALL SMILES: Friends Shaun Hartley and Adele Smith enjoy the activities after a hard day at school.
