For good mental health: Act - do something! Belong - do something with someone. Commit - do something meaningful.

Benefits of playing games

As games are often played in a group and children need to take turns, board games have been shown to increase interpersonal skills, patience and respect. As a bonus children's numeracy and recognition skills can also benefit as board games often involve colours and rolling dice.

Mentally Healthy School